

Item No: 15.

Subject: NAMING OF TWO NEW ROADS

Summary

This report seeks Council's authorisation to assign names for two roads constructed as part of a new residential estate located on Sturt Road at Brighton. The community has been consulted on a number of suggested road names, whilst also providing the opportunity for unsolicited suggestions from the community in return.

Recommendation

That Council authorises the names _____ Way and _____ Lane for two new public roads currently on land located at 28 Sturt Road, Brighton in accordance with the City of Holdfast Bay's Naming of Public Places Policy.

Background

At its meeting held on 13 February 2024, Council resolved to authorise the undertaking of community consultation in accordance with the City of Holdfast Bay's Naming of Public Spaces Policy, on the suggested names of Minear, Pearson, Hackett, Wauchope, Somerville, Corymbia and Citronella for two new public roads currently under construction on land located at 28 Sturt Road, Brighton. The resolution also required that Council is provided with the results of the community consultation process for consideration prior to the ratification of the new road names.

Report

The new residential estate located at 28 Sturt Road, Brighton has reached a stage of construction where Council can now consider the assignment of names for the two new public roads that service the twenty-six allotments. In considering suitable names for the roads, Council is guided by its Naming of Public Places Policy. Notwithstanding that the development is privately initiated, the Council can apply its discretion to the selection of road names as these roads will become public assets upon the issue of titles for the land. The interim names of Corymbia Way and Citronella Lane were assigned under delegation to enable the servicing of sale contracts, whilst allowing Council the time required to consider more permanent names.

Councillors and Council Administration put forward seven suggested names to provide the community with a number of choices for consideration, without limiting the public's ability to nominate altogether different names. The results of this engagement strategy are discussed in the sections below.

Community Consultation

The Naming of Public Places Policy requires that the naming of roads occurs in consultation with the community. The community was invited to share its views on seven suggested names for two new roads through an engagement process that commenced on 7 March 2024. Properties located adjacent the development site along with other stakeholders received direct notification of the engagement, with two corflute signs placed on the front of the property with details of the engagement for anyone to view and make comments. Details were also provided on council's website, enabling the community to engage via direct mail, email, telephone, in-person enquiries, or via a QR code. Community consultation was open for twenty-one days, ending at 5pm on 27 March 2024. Best endeavours were undertaken to contact the next of kin of each of the nominated persons, with many family members participating in the engagement process. It is worth mentioning that the engagement process has been very well-received, atoned by the number of participants and the feedback received during the engagement period, which has been very complimentary towards the ease of participation, attributable to the 'low barrier engagement' strategy developed by council's Digital Engagement team.

At the close of the engagement period, 513 contributions were received, the majority of which made their selections based on the seven suggested names. The results of the community engagement showed a clear preference for the name Minear, which received 325 nominations or 78% of the total nominations. The names Pearson, Hackett, and Wauchope receiving 87, 79 and 71 nominations respectively. Of the names not on the list endorsed by Council, the community had a preference for the name 'LeCornu', which received 11 nominations.

Of the hundreds of contributions made during the engagement period, one unsolicited nomination stood out as deserving individual mention. Lieutenant Oscar Donald Hassam, who made the ultimate sacrifice through his service during World War One, was a Brighton local whose nomination is compelling. Oscar's story is provided as Attachment 2 to this report to ensure that his memory is not lost amongst the hundreds of submissions listed in the engagement report. Attachment 2 also contains a brief on the suggestions put forward by Council as a recap of all names.

Refer Attachment 2

Given that Council was conscious of the need to allow the community to nominate names not suggested as part of the engagement material, it is important for the integrity of the engagement process that the merits of these names are not diminished by their low level of community support, as these were of course not on the ballot and therefore not open to a 'vote' in the same way that the seven pre-selected names were. In this sense, whilst it is important that regard is had for the results of the community engagement outcome, it is also important that the relative merits of the totality of names put forward by the community are assessed for their adherence to the Naming of Public Places Policy. The degree of subjectivity applicable to the selection of the two road names is high, evidenced by previous reactions to Administration-led recommendations. An open recommendation is therefore put forward for Council to make its own determination based on the breadth of information gathered in the preceding 5-months since this matter was first tabled for discussion.

Road Name Suffixes

Regarding the suffix applied to each road name, these are selected as best descriptors for the form and function of each road. 'Way' is apt as it describes the alignment of the main road through the estate, implying that it provides passage through the estate without being either linear or serving as a thoroughfare. 'Lane' implies that the road is designed to service access to the residential properties it abuts.

Budget

The costs associated with formalising and declaring the road names through the Land Services Group and Land Titles Office will be borne by the developer as part of statutory fees associated with the land division.

Community Engagement Report

28 Sturt Road - Naming of New Roads

Engagement period 7 March 2024 – 27 March 2024

Overview

Names are needed for two new roads located within a new housing development that is currently under construction at 28 Sturt Road, Brighton.

Council can assign a name to a public road under Section 219 of the Local Government Act 1999 and is guided by our Public Place and Road Naming Policy. The policy considers suggestions including referring to a person who has made a significant community contribution or geographic or natural attributes in the immediate locality.

Seven names were suggested that align with the policy:

- Citronella
- Corymbia
- Hackett
- Minear
- Pearson
- Somerville
- Wauchope

Participants were invited to complete a short survey to share their two preferences or suggest an alternative.

The engagement was promoted through the following channels:

- 2x corflute signs at the redevelopment at 28 Sturt Road, Brighton with a QR code to YourHoldfast project web page and council telephone number
- 80 letters sent to nearby residents and businesses
- Radio interview with mayor on ABC Radio Adelaide
- Facebook post
- Holdfast News e-newsletter
- News article on the council website
- Feature article on the home page of YourHoldfast

Feedback was collected in the following ways:

1. Completing an online survey at www.yourholdfast.com/28-sturt-road
2. Email
3. Phone
4. Writing

Participation

People participated in the engagement in the following ways:

- 514 participants completed the online survey (two people submitted their feedback twice)
- 1 contribution to the 'questions and answers' section of the project web page. This was removed and responded to privately due to personal information being listed.
- 1,274 views to the YourHoldfast project page (Passive participation)
- 1 email response
- 1 hardcopy response (admin entered this to the online data)
- 1 phone call

Online results

Participants were invited to select up to two of the proposed names and/or suggest another name. 514 contributions were received (three were entered in by Administration). Of the 514 contributions, 233 identified as residents of the City of Holdfast Bay (45%).

- 48 participants selected Citronella (participant x voted twice)
- 41 participants selected Corymbia
- 92 participants selected Hackett
- 363 participants selected Minear (participant x voted twice)
- 109 participants selected Pearson
- 62 participants selected Somerville
- 73 participants selected Wauchope

Participants could select up to two names, however many selected just one name.

Other suggested names

Thirty- four (34) contributors filled in the suggestion for an alternative name. Only 29 of the suggestions were names (Le Cornu suggested 11 times), whereas others used this space to provide general comments.

- 2 contributors requested in this section that research be conducted to choose a suitable indigenous name but didn't suggest a specific name.
- 3 contributors provided comments here but did not directly suggest a name.

8761									I would like to suggest that rather than focusing on details of the street names, perhaps consider listening to the concerns of neighbours regarding the fact that there is no turn in to these new streets when travelling west down Sturt Rd and that this is going to result in around 50 extra cars doing U-turns in front of our house at number 26. Also more urgently prioritise the damage caused to our property (fence, blocking of light) and gate access that is still awaiting a date to be fixed 6 months after being reported. Not to mention the lack of communication surrounding any of the important issues caused by this development affecting neighbouring properties!

9070								Mrs Topsy Waterman was a well known and loved identity in Sturt Road. She lived on the corner of Seymour St and Sturt Rd and taught at Brighton Primary School for decades. Her contribution to children in the community was enormous. Sadly, she passed away on 28th November 2020. My suggestion is 'Waterman' for one of the roads because Topsy lived nearby, was a Miss Australia entrant, was a prominent local identity, served the local community with distinction and was a magnificent, honourable person. Furthermore, she was not an import from elsewhere but was a true and admired nearby Sturt Road, Brighton, identity. Her memoirs are available, I believe, from the leader of the Brighton and Beyond archive.	Having been born and lived in the area for a long time, the only recognisable local other names of similar weight are Pearson and Somerville, in my recollection. The Wauchope's remained exclusive and the others were imports.
9071								I believe council should invite local First Nations people to suggest names for to be included in all areas with new roads to help enhance cultural learning of residents. I suggest Piltawodli circuit - possum place (council will need to check with appropriate people to check if that's suitable), and I suggest this because as a local resident, many possums have been displaced from trees removed (causing considerable territory and dietary challenges) and I'd like them to be remembered. Corymbia has already been installed as a street name, so this survey may be a bit late? And it's appears to be just one street, so perhaps a circuit?

9182			1				1		Kenneth Bruce Hewish. Although not listed as a possible street name , there is a potential name that is long overdue. Brighton Council had a stated policy of naming streets after past mayors (see for example Brighton Council minutes of 25 May 1981 and 26 Sept 1983) Many mayors have had streets or parks named after them. Among those who haven't , the most deserving is Kenneth Bruce Hewish . He was mayor in 1954,55,70,72 and 73 . He holds the record for the longest service on the Brighton Council – 30 years. He actually did have a street named after him in line with Council policy. This was briefly known as Hewish Place , but was subsequently renamed Bungey Lane. For some reason the Council never got around to naming another road after him , even though subsequent mayors were honoured. We suggest that if it is not possible to include his name in this street naming , then his name should be noted for future reference.

9217								My suggestion for a name is because part of this era, encompassing Covid disaster I suggest we call one "Covid Close " and the other " Lucky Lane " as I doubt we would be in this housing Cris if covid had not decimated our countries and sent people back to their homelands	I would be happy for an indigenous name meaning the same and brought others home to theirs. All of a sudden good old boring Adelaide safe and it's been discovered. Raising housing prices.

9219									LeCornu
9220								Le Cornu Family owned this land and home with it's much admired magnificent garden. They deserve recognition for what was there prior to building and garden being razed for this development.	I have lived in Holdfast Bay area for my entire life. Glenelg then Somerton (now Somerton Park).
9221							1	I think street 1 should be named ' Wauchope Crescent ' due to it's shape. Also the Wauchope's were the first owners of the land and kept the property in it's original state for all those years. I'm sure they had many offers from developers during this time. I think street 2 should be names ' Le Cornu Lane ' as it is a short road as many lanes are. I understand Lance Le Cornu the iconic retailer on Anzac Highway was the second owner of the property and until this development it was always referred by locals as ' the Le Cornu's estate '.	What a shame the council did not purchase the property and turn it into another ' Partridge House ' for weddings and historic events etc.

9232								Qurban Named after Ibrahim H. Qurban Contribution: The building of the Seacliff Rotunda, now demolished. Mr Ibrahim H. Qurban was an immigrant from Lebanon and arrived in Australia in 1892. In 1922 Qurban opened the Astoria as a residential cafe and then constructed, at his own cost, the Rotunda across the Esplanade, using the discarded concrete slats and piers from the Glenelg breakwater. (Source: (adapted from) Brighton Heritage Review 1998) He was an "Adelaide optician, who was a member of the [Brighton] Council, later to be Mayor, and a resident of Seacliff for ten years." "He erected the seventy slats and the parapet wall without cost to Council using discarded concrete slats and piers of the ill-fated Glenelg breakwater." (Adapted from The vanishing sands by Averil Holt) So, it was due to this man, who provided a large proportion of the cost, that the population of Adelaide was able to enjoy this large rotunda on the seashore at Seacliff, which was used for decades for public entertainment and enjoyment. To my knowledge, he is not recognised in any other way publicly.

9286								Oscar Donald Hassam. I recommend to the Council that one of the roads be named after my great uncle, Lieutenant Oscar Donald Hassam (killed in action WW1). The Hassam family home was located where the current Woolworths store is 437 Brighton Road Brighton. It was a 2-storey building named “De La Haye House” and owned by Oscar’s mother, Frances Hassam. During the building of the first railway line the Railway Engineers and other employees were housed at De La Haye House. Oscar was a volunteer member of the Adelaide rifles and worked at Brighton Cement. Oscar was one of the first to join the 10th Battalion Australian Imperial Force on 19 August 1914 with a service number of 51. The 10th Battalion was also one of the first to land pre-dawn at ANZAC Cove on 25 April 1915. Despite his young age of 20 he had the rank Colour Sergeant Major (CSM) of “B” company at the time of the landing. The CSM holds the rank of Warrant Officer and is the most senior soldier who is not an officer. A company in WW1 had a complement of up to some 227 men. A substantial responsibility for someone so young. He was evacuated from ANZAC Cove on 18 May 1915 with Rheumatic Fever. Bearing in mind that at the time there were no antibiotics or modern medicine, in many cases it resulted in death. The disease was that serious that Oscar was offered repatriation back to Australia however he volunteered to stay with the Australian troops to finish the job. In November 1916 Oscar transferred to the Provos Corps (Military Police) and was later commissioned and as an officer and posted to France. During that time, he completed many hazardous duties and the family believes that he was recommended for one of the highest bravery awards a Military Cross. The recommendation was downgraded to Mentioned in Despatches. This was awarded and the gazetted citation dated 7 April 1918 reads; for the period 26 February 1917 to 21 September 1917 Lieutenant Oscar Donald Hassam on a number of occasions performed distinguished, gallantry service and devotion to duty. The citation was signed by Sir General Douglas Haig. On 20 May 1918 on a bridge at Gilsy France he was wounded by what was believed to be a hand bomb from a German plane. Later that night he succumbed to his wounds and is buried with 6 other soldiers in the Gilsy Community Cemetery Somme France in the area where he fell, next to the bridge. Oscar was engaged to be married to Miss Jessie Skinner, who never married, and died young in the nineteen twenties. The family believes that Miss Skinner died of a broken heart. On 21 November 1926, Oscar’s mother Frances opened the original Brighton Arch of Remembrance with the widow of Sergeant W. Sievwright. It is believed that the Brighton Council provided an undertaking to name streets after those who did not return. The Hassam family has a deep connection with the Brighton area and it is fitting that a street be named after not only the family but one of our brave and dedicated citizens who gave his life for his Country, his State, and his local community. On behalf of the extended Hassam family, I sincerely recommend that one of the streets be named Hassam Street/ Avenue/Court in memory of one of Brighton’s finest volunteer soldiers who paid the ultimate sacrifice, his life.
